PARTICIPATE IN OUR FOCUS GROUP

- Many victims/survivors do not seek out help after an unwanted sexual experience. This focus group seeks to understand why people might not seek out help and how to make it easier.
- You'll be asked to participate in a group discussion about the decision to either seek out help or not seek out help after an unwanted sexual experience.
- Discussion will focus on why you chose to seek help or not. It won't focus on the unwanted experience.
- A trained moderator will help guide the discussion and all responses will be kept anonymous.
